

LECTIO MAGISTRALIS IN HONOUR OF ANTONIO CASSESE

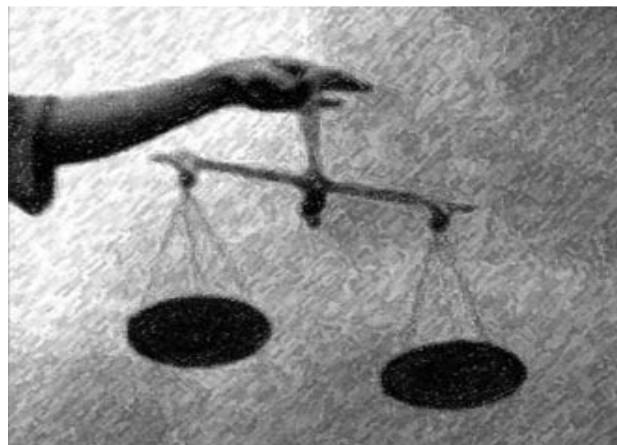

Università degli Studi di Firenze, Facoltà di Scienze Politiche Cesare
Alfieri, Aula D5 -107 (primo piano) via delle Pandette 21

TUESDAY 15th MAY 10 A.M.

Opening Remarks
Franca Alacevich, Marco Mayer

Aryeh Neier
President of the Open Society Foundations

Human Rights and International Justice after the Fall of the Berlin Wall: A Critical Assessment.

Discussant
Micaela Frulli

Contributions by
Luigi Condorelli Marcello Flores

Aryeh Neier is President of the Open Society Foundations. He was among the founders of Human Rights Watch (and Executive Director for 12 years) and worked 15 years at the American Civil Liberties Union. He served as an adjunct professor of law at NYU and has also taught at Georgetown University Law School and the University of Siena. Author of 7 books, including The International Human Rights Movement: A History (2012), Neier has also contributed chapters to more than 20 books. He is the recipient of six honorary degrees and numerous awards.

Participants:

Franca Alacevich, Professor of Sociology, Dean of the Faculty of Political Sciences, University of Florence

Luigi Condorelli, Professor of International Law, University of Florence

Marcello Flores, Professor of Contemporary History, Director of the Master in Human Rights and Humanitarian Action, University of Siena,

Micaela Frulli, Associate Professor of International Law, University of Florence

Marco Mayer, Contract Professor of Political Science (Globalization and Peacekeeping), University of Florence