REQUIRED LANGUAGE SKILLS

Université de Montréal is a French taught institution and almost all courses are held in French.

Mobilità internazionale per studio nei Paesi Extra-UE a.a. 2019/2020

A B2 level (from the Common European framework) delivered by an accredited institution (home university's Department of Languages, French Alliance, School of Languages, etc.) French proficiency is strongly recommended.

Some departments may require a higher level, see below the list of programs with particular requirements.

French courses: a non-francophone student can take one 3 credits French module at UdeM School of languages. Some materials fees may be asked (about 25 $ per credit).

A placement test is mandatory. Information is sent to students.

APPLICATION DEADLINES

The university of Florence will have to send, by email, its selection of candidates by March 10, 2019 at the latest.

Fall semester (September to December) and full academic year (September to April) :

April 1st

Winter semester (January to April) :

From April 1st to September 15th

Please note that the UdeM cannot guarantee admission. The official letter of admission will be available online on the "Centre Étudiant" once the academic department accepts the application.

The online copy should be used for visa/study permit application.
